ABOUT THE AUSTRALIAN PINK FLOYD SHOW

Selling four million tickets worldwide and described by The Times as the “gold standard” and The Daily Mirror as the “kings of the genre,” The Australian Pink Floyd Show gave its first-ever concert in Adelaide, Australia, in 1988. Since then, they have performed in more than 35 countries worldwide and played at David Gilmour’s 50th birthday celebration where they were joined on stage by Rick Wright. Often described as being more than a tribute band, The Australian Pink Floyd Show is the first Pink Floyd tribute show that took the concept out of the pubs and onto the worldwide arena circuit. The band has played to sold-out audiences throughout Europe, UK, America, Canada, South America, Israel and Russia. They have also worked with musicians like Guy Pratt, Durga McBroom and her sister Lorelei McBroom who have toured with Pink Floyd, as well as sound engineer Colin Norfield who worked with Pink Floyd during their Division Bell tour and on David Gilmour’s solo tours.
